Object of the game

The bees of Honeybee Valley are busy visiting flowers, collecting pollen to make honey. To win the game, be the first player to press your bee onto the flower shapes, stacking them in the correct colour order shown on the spinner.

To play

Place all the flowers onto the table, with the holes in the middle facing up.

Each player takes a bee playing piece.

The oldest player spins the spinner.

When the spinner stops it will show a sequence of coloured flowers. Working from the edge of the spinner card towards the middle, it shows the order of flowers your bee has to visit.

All players now race to recreate that sequence by pressing their bee into the middle of each flower to create a coloured flower stack in the same order as shown on the spinner.
Be the first player to complete a stack of flowers in the correct colour order and shout “Speedy Bees”. As long as they have the flowers in the right order, the first person to shout out “Speedy Bees” is the winner of that round and is given a honeypot counter.

Players place the flowers back on the table and the next player to the left spins the spinner.

The winner

The first person to collect four honeypot counters.

Teaches:

- Colour recognition
- Matching
- Co-operative play
