Instructions

object of the game:

To be the last player left after everybody else has picked the wrong goopy!

setting up:

Place the Goopy Louie Head into the Base Unit.

Take the goopy which has a loop at the end.

Open Goopy Louie's nose compartment door and slot the loop into the groove in the trigger as shown.

Place all the other goopys into the nose compartment and shut the nose compartment door.

open the top of Goopy Louie's head and place his Springy Noisy Brain inside. Push it down into the cavity with the brain part upwards. Hold the brain down to stop it escaping as you close the brain compartment door.

Playing the game:

Without looking up Goopy Louie's hooter, the youngest player starts the game by putting their finger up into Louie's nose through his nostril hole.

After having a feel around, they pull out any one of the gooey.

If they pull out a green gooey, play passes to the next player, but if they pull out a black gooey, that player must take another turn.

If any gooey is partly sticking out of Goopy Louie's hooter, they must be pulled first before reaching inside the nose.

Achoo!!

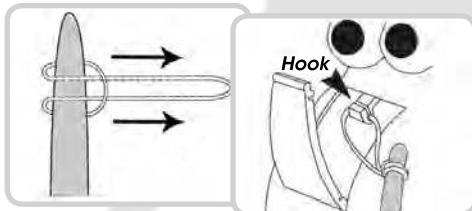

Play continues in this manner until a player picks the WRONG gooey. Louie's eyes will pop and his brain will explode from his head! The player who caused this to happen is out of the game. The remaining players reset the game, including putting back all the gooey that had been removed.

Start a new game until another player pulls the WRONG gooey... now they are out of the game too.

Keep playing until just one player is left. They are the winner!

Game variation: You may have noticed that there are three different sizes of gooey - small, medium and large. In this game variation, play as previously mentioned with the game ending when somebody pulls the wrong gooey, but now all players place their collected gooey end to end and the player who has the longest line wins.

Note: If the gooey with the loop is pulled too hard it may snap. It can be easily fixed with a drop of superglue (ask an adult to do this) or you can get a small rubber band and fix it around the gooey as shown and use this to secure the gooey into the trigger groove.
